MOTOR "vigilantes" similar to those appointed by Chief Webster for the guarding of the city streets have also been selected and put to work on the county highways by Sheriff L. Miller. Miller has deputized thirty-five drivers from all over the county, authorizing them to report violations of automobile laws and to make arrests. The sheriff made public the following statement Monday morning:

"This department, after having numerous reports of road violations by motorists, has appointed thirty-five deputies to assist in enforcing state laws that should be known to all automobile owners. The fact that you are not appointed as one of these deputies will not prevent you from swearing out a complaint against any violator that you may meet."
—ED. C. MILLER, Sheriff.

GOOD REMINDERS
Every member of the Automobile club this week will carry on his windshield a sign reminding himself and others that it is SAFETY WEEK in La Crosse. All members who are still not in possession of such signs may procure them by calling at the office of the Secretary, Seymour L. Meister, 110 South Second street.

"DON'TS"
Appearing on the streets today were a number of little slips, printed in red as is appropriate to the title—"Don'ts." They contain "don'ts" for pedestrians and auto drivers, and were prepared as part of the Safety Week program by the Automobile club. One side, for pedestrians, urges:

- Don't cross street intersections diagonally.
- Don't forget to "keep to the right"; it is the universal traffic law.
- Don't unnecessarily impede traffic; do your part in avoiding accidents.
- Don't overlook the other fellow's viewpoint; co-operation means safety.
- Don't recent traffic officer's directions—he is doing his best to prevent accidents.
- Don't forget that streets before looking both ways; your immediate danger is from the left.
- Don't read or let your mind wander when standing where vehicles pass; you invite accident by so doing.
- Don't cross crowded street intersections without first observing up and down.
- Don't stand in traffic route when waiting for street car. Remain on sidewalk within safety zone until street car approaches.
- Don't run across, behind, or in front of a car, auto or wagon.
- Wait and see what is on the other side, then move at fast walk.
- Don't run.

The other side, for drivers, says:

- Don't cut corners.
- Don't overtake your car.
- Don't pass open street car gates.
- Don't drive on left side of the street.
- Don't take blind curves at high speed.
- Don't pass street car on left side.
- Don't have your muffler cut out when driving.
- Don't forget that inexperienced people to drive your car.
- Don't approach street intersections at high speed.
- Don't forget that the traffic of other regulated traffic.
- Don't fail to give signal with hand when turning or stopping.
- Don't overlook the rights of the pedestrian—his life is just as important as yours.
- Be careful of children.
- Don't endanger your position in the community by disregarding these suggestions—public sentiment against accidents.
- The sign on your right has the right of way always.

FLOOD DAMAGE EXTENT STILL UNKNOWN

DEATH SUMMONS BISHOP SCHWEBACH

PASSES AT RESIDENCE EARLY TODAY

1847 Bishop James Schwebach 1921

Ill Since Last December. Aged Head of La Crosse Diocese, Has Fatal Sinking Spell Sunday

NOTED AS BUILDER AND ADMINISTRATOR OF CHURCH
Churches, Schools and Orphanage Remain as Monument to His Unremitting Labors

RT. REV. JAMES SCHWEBACH, bishop of the diocese of La Crosse, died at his residence, 1419 Cass street, at 6:45 a. m. Monday. The bells of all Catholic churches were tolled a few minutes after the end had come, announcing to the people of La Crosse the passing of the head of the Catholic church here.

The death of the bishop was not unexpected. He had been confined to his residence since last December, suffering from a general physical and nervous breakdown. Sunday it was evident that the end was close at hand. In the afternoon Dr. G. J. Egan, the bishop's physician, was called and remained at his bedside until he died. In the evening the prelate gradually grew weaker. Father Leo Lang, his secretary, and Dr. Egan remained at his bedside all night and through the early morning hours until his death.

Shortly after the bishop died, the following priests went to the residence and at once started making arrangements for the obsequies: Rev. K. G. Beyer, Rev. Joseph Reisterer, Rev. Peter Pape and Dr. Robert B. Condon.

Funeral Thursday at Cathedral
The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the Cathedral of St. Joseph. Details of the arrangements will be announced later.

"The death of Bishop Schwebach comes with a sense of irreparable loss to the priests and people of his diocese," said the Rev. Robert B. Condon, pastor of St. Mary's church Monday morning. "For twenty-nine years he has ably administered the affairs of the diocese. He was unobtrusive, shrinking from publicity, but was ever occupied with diocesan affairs, pushing them forward in every conceivable way and settling all controversies and adjusting all difficulties with tact, discretion and success."

"He had a very genial disposition and a kind heart. No appeal to his charity went unheeded. His sympathetic kindness and his genuine spirituality won him the reverence and love of all who knew him."

Mr. Schubert's Statement
A. H. Schubert said of the life of Bishop Schwebach: "For more than fifty years the Right Reverend James Schwebach has been active in La Crosse as a priest and a bishop. As a priest in the early days his work covered the entire city and vicinity. He became intimately acquainted with his people and the older people, especially, remember his sincere and benevolent disposition. They love to talk about the early days and to relate his acts of love and kindness. His quarter of a century as bishop has in the same manner endeared him to the people of his entire diocese. He was truly a spiritual father to all of them. On his confirmation tours his kind words and his sincere and earnest sermons made an impression they never forgot. Bishop Schwebach cared little for himself. His thoughts were always of others—especially of the poor and unfortunate. He loved the little children under his charge and above all the little orphans. How it moved one's heart to see him among these little ones. He was proud of the home he had established for them at St. Michael's."

"He fondly hoped that he would be able to found a similar home for the aged and poor before his death."

STANDARD TIME IS READOPTED IN CITY MONDAY MORNING

Nearly all of Residents of City Set Back Clocks One Hour

JUST A FEW FACTORIES KEEP DAYLIGHT SAVING SCHEDULE

Little Confusion Marks Change Back to Standard Time

Daylight saving passed into history Monday so far as a majority of the residents of La Crosse are concerned. Only in the various departments of the city government, the public schools and the court house are the clocks still running under the day light saving schedule.

The transition from the daylight saving schedule to standard time was accomplished with far less difficulty and confusion than marked the change on June 1, when the clocks were advanced one hour, and a large percentage of the population went to work Monday morning at the old time quite as if nothing had happened.

As indicated in the announcement of the contemplated change Sunday, employees of the 300 firms signing the agreement to return to standard time adapted their hours to the change decided upon by their employers.

In a half-dozen factories the daylight saving schedule will be retained during the summer months.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY IN TEXAS REMOVED BY THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON.—Hugh R. Robertson, United States district attorney for the western district of Texas, has been removed from office by President Harding. It was announced Monday at the department of justice. No reason was assigned for the removal. It was said.

HEY, MISTER!

MISTER
Scores of youngsters in this town are looking at you with beseeching eyes today. For in your hands lies the decision whether they will have a little bit of fun and outdoor life this summer, or whether they will have to be cooped up on city pavements and dusty, vacant lots.

With you rests the fate of the Rescue Mission's summer camp. To run it will require about $300—small sum, isn't it, for all La Crosse to raise? Yet that small sum will make scores of weary mothers and their children happy as nothing else could do.

It means fresh air, rest, coolness and wholesome play for them—the things, Mister, that you want your family to have because you know how necessary they are to happiness and health.

You can't buy ten dollars worth of anything, anywhere, Mister, that will be such heap-up, pressed-down and running-over measure for your money as the mission summer camp.

Try it and see! Send the check to George Krause, of the Krause Clothing Co., treasurer of the mission, or to D. C. Dewey, superintendent.

CAMPBELL BABY CLINIC EVENT ON WEDNESDAY

All the babies in the town of Campbell two years old or under are invited to attend a party at Campbell hall Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock.

This is the date designated for the baby clinic of the township, according to an announcement made this morning by Miss Elsie Burkhardt, county nurse. All babies in the township will be weighed and measured Wednesday afternoon. Dr. H. B. Wolf will officiate at the clinic and he will be assisted by Mrs. W. A. Tripp and Mrs. W. J. Dawson.

OVER HUNDRED BODIES RECOVERED

Accurate Estimate of Loss of Life Impossible; Red Cross and Other Agencies Hasten to Relief of Stricken Zone; Breaking of Dams Causes Renewal of Floods on Sunday; Danger Now Believed Past

PUEBLO, Colo.—By The Associated Press.—Flood stricken central Colorado Monday surveyed the havoc wrought by the most disastrous flood in the history of the west. An accurate estimate of the loss of life and property damage is impossible at this time. With morgues crowded to overflowing, hospitals turning patients to improvised relief stations and thousands homeless or suffering from exposure, every effort was being directed Monday toward alleviation of the suffering. The work of checking up the destruction and plans for rehabilitation was left to the attention of outside forces now enroute to the almost prostrate community.

Danger of repetition of the flood seemed to have passed, but restoration of the city to any semblance of the normal conditions is a matter of weeks. Every dam in the Arkansas and Fountain rivers from which danger might be expected is gone and the levees about the city are so rilled that they will have to be repaired before even the business section can be cleared of water.

A report originating on the south side of Pueblo Sunday night, that the Arkansas river was four feet higher at Swallows, and a new flood might be expected in Pueblo was proved groundless early Monday. At 3:30 o'clock the river had fallen considerably from its high point of last night.

Three times Sunday came a renewal of the flood. At 4 o'clock in the morning water rose several feet when the crest of the flood from the breaking of the Stratton park dam near Colorado Springs reached Pueblo.

In the afternoon, breaking of the Skagway reservoir and Beaver dam near Victor, coupled with a heavy downpour of rain in the Arkansas river water shed and in Pueblo caused another rise. Again at night following another heavy rainstorm the water rose.

In none of the floods of Sunday, however, did the water reach the level of Friday night.

Recover 100 Bodies
An exact figure as to the number of bodies recovered was impossible. Morgues have been established at many places and not all of these could be reached. Dr. J. M. Heller of the Red Cross placed the number of bodies found at approximately 100. Basing his estimate on reports made to him and upon personal information of the devastated area.

The number of persons in temporary hospitals was placed at 500 by J. B. Moorhead, secretary to Governor Shoup. Typhoid, pneumonia, diphtheria and one or two cases of insanity were found.

The upper floor of the court house has been converted into a hospital with seventy-five patients. A supply of coats, blankets and sweaters arrived Sunday from the Red Cross in Colorado Springs.

Red Cross on the Job
Hundreds applied to the Red Cross Sunday and Saturday for food, clothing and medical relief. A canteen supplied the food. A carload of beef was commandeered from the railroad yards and cooked to prevent its spoiling. Red Cross officials expected the meat to aid materially the food situation. One of the greatest problems here is drinking water. The only water available is from a lithia spring near the Congress hotel.

Restoration of the city to even an approach to normal conditions is a matter of weeks. All the levees were washed out and restoration of the river to its natural bed presents an engineering problem of magnitude.

Rescue work is being carried on with renewed vigor. A day of sunshine would aid materially in lowering the water to a level which would make possible a rather thorough investigation of the flooded buildings. The basement of every building is filled with water and mud. Windows of basements were crushed in by the flood, and military officials say that bodies may be found here weeks later when it has been possible to pump out the basements and shovel out the mud.

Send Doctors and Nurses
Fourteen doctors and twenty-five nurses have arrived here from Colorado Springs. Fifteen embalmers arrived from Denver and sixteen from Colorado Springs.

Business men attribute much of the flood to the blocking of the floodwaters by railroad right of way in one section built entirely of slag. With the exception of a small hole under the tracks the slag withstood the onrush of the flood and the waters backed up into the city, washing out the levees and leaving the lower part of Pueblo at the mercy of the flood.

Repair Levees First
At a conference of city and state officials repair of the levees was decided upon as a first problem to be met. Importation of a crew of engineers to undertake the problem was advocated. It was considered possible that aid of United States government engineers as well as engineers from Colorado would be sought.

The search for bodies here late Sunday was interrupted by rising waters. However, searches were on early Monday morning.

With the exception of a relief train, over the Colorado Southern from Trinidad Sunday there has been no resumption of train service into the city.

Safety and the Vigilantes

A GOOD take-off for Safety Week was the announcement on Friday of the appointment by the chief of police of fifty "vigilantes" to keep tab on infractions of traffic ordinances and other motor-car regulations and report them to the police department. Most accidents are traceable to just such small violations of comparatively minor rules. Hardly a smash-up occurs in which investigation fails to reveal that one or both of the drivers was going too fast, cutting corners or on the wrong side of the street. The rule holds good as well for the country roads as the city streets. Speeding, road-hogging, glaring headlights and so on bring collisions and put machines in the ditch. And the innocent suffer with the guilty. The car wrecked or the person taken to the hospital is at least half the time not the one to blame for the accident.

The "vigilantes" will be useful for one great purpose—instilling respect for driving regulations into the drunks and fools. There are not many of them, to be sure, but the few there are cause all but a small percentage of the accidents. The great majority of motor drivers are anxious to obey the regulations, having regard for their skins and their machines. To such as these the appointment of the "vigilantes" will be more than welcome, and the community need not care what the drunks and fools may think of the idea. They do not care for the rights or safety of others, and for that reason have forfeited any consideration for themselves. We trust that the new additions to the force will have this fact strongly in mind when confronted with reportable violations of traffic laws. The number of accidents that have occurred so far this season sufficiently indicates the necessity of giving the community, and not the careless driver, the benefit of the doubt. To turn in information which may cost some one a fine is not pleasant, but unless he is checked by some such warning the offender is likely to cost himself and the community many times the amount of the fine if he does not actually kill himself or some one else. Strong measures are the real kindness of the situation.

We suggest that all drivers impress upon themselves not only that this is Safety Week, in which the possibility of handling motor traffic with complete freedom from accidents is to be demonstrated, but also that they will take due notice of the fact that the "vigilantes" are on the job. If the moral obligation of handling their cars without danger to the public fails to pervade them with caution, if assistance in the success of a community enterprise makes no appeal to them, perhaps the thought that the next car they meet may be driven by a man or woman sworn to report the number of every car that breaks the driving regulations may carry a meaning. By one means or another La Crosse is going to make its streets and highways safe for law-abiding folks.

Find Out!

THE attack recently aimed at Dr. John R. Commons by members of the legislature because a bill relating to an industrial problem connotes the always conflicting points of view of the professional scholar and the active business man. "What does he know about it, anyway?", a challenge which by implication intimated that Dr. Commons knew absurdly little or nothing at all about it, fully disclosed the point of impact at which the angles of difference crash.

We shall always have this contempt of the "practical business man" for the "theorist," and were these terms accurate it might be justified. Fortunately they are not accurate, and if it can not be said that the scholar makes more practical application of his knowledge than does the employer who sees the world of industry through the narrow windows of a single counting room, at least it must be admitted that his outlook is broader and his approach more disinterested. For the business man gets his views from daily contact with a single plant or line of business, and reacts to his experiences from the standpoint of their effect upon his personal fortunes. The scholar, on the other hand, is detached in his work and studies both the business man and his "hands," and all businesses and all business men, and their employees. As from his accumulated information and his analysis of conditions, present and desirable, and cause and effect, the scholar advances a thought, it remains a theory only until it is tried, but if it succeeds it becomes "practical", and the evolution of our industrial world as it has overcome one after another vexing problem is mile-stoned with practical achievements which were born as "theories" in the brains of scholars.

"What does he know about it anyway?"

Had members who made this inquiry addressed it to a score of the leading minds and institutions of the nation—university presidents, Rockefeller Institute, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Elihu Root, Hughes, Gifford Pinchot, Brandeis, and Theodore Roosevelt had been alive—the answer probably would have been unanimous that Dr. Commons ranks among the first dozen authorities in the United States upon the subject. Or had they chosen to verify his knowledge by personal examination, they might have read some of Dr. Commons' books upon industrial problems. Many an inquiring business man has opened them with skepticism and closed them with interest if indeed not with new convictions.

However, the point here is not so much what Dr. Commons knows or does not know, as it is whether and to what extent government shall take advantage of the great institution for research and analysis which the state maintains within a few squares of its seat of government? Our governors have not neglected the opportunity. La Follette drew upon this source of specialized information as each special problem arose before him, and therein lies the secret of our Wisconsin administrative departments that astounded the country by standing the test of legal validity and actually "working." Many an executive who came to scoff, lived to counsel with them. Governor Blaine, we doubt not, avails himself of their assistance. So will all wise men—men not wise in their own conceit, but wise in the search for knowledge and open-minded for its reception.

"Visionary theory!" was hurled at the railway commission bill, the industrial commission bill, and one after another, of measures establishing agencies and administration for pioneer policies which today stand approved by the people of this state with practical unanimity. So it has been, and so it will be, at least until public officials substitute for the ironical, "What does he know about it, anyway!", an earnest, "Let's find out what he knows about it!"

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From 2:30 to 11:30 o'clock this morning the entire water service of the city was out of commission, leaving every part of the town without fire protection and all households with water connections without supply. The water was cut off by sand clogging both intakes in the Mississippi river. City Diver Henry Hoffman was summoned. After making several attempts he succeeded in preparing the huge pipes for raising. At 11:30 the pipes were hauled to the surface and immediately water began surging into the wells and the city again had an adequate water supply.

The Twentieth Century club celebrated its tenth anniversary by a luncheon given at the Country club today.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dockendorf, Sr., and Bernard Dockendorf, Jr., left for New York last night. From there they will take passage London where they will attend the coronation of King George and later spend several months touring through Europe.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The town of Onalaska has let the contract for the building of a new bridge over Half Way Creek near Frank Schaller's farm. The present bridge at that place has been in bad condition for some time and will be torn down as soon as the new one is completed.

J. E. Willing, Jr., has returned from Chicago where he attended the graduation exercises of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of Illinois. Among the graduates was his sister, Miss Bertha Willing, a graduate of the La Crosse high school.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Tiffany left last night for an extended trip through Europe.

Father John Kelley of New York is visiting Father Ambrose Murphy, 1032 Caledonia street. He will preach tonight and remain over Sunday.

The Hotel Salem was formally opened at West Salem last night by the new proprietor, E. R. Peck. There were 200 guests at the banquet which was served.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The street car track opposite George Zeisler's brewery was removed this morning to the center of the street, necessitating the exchange of passengers from one car to another.

A new sidewalk is to be laid on the east side of Fifth street between Jay and King streets.

The little race horse, Ella B., owned by Mr. Edward Evans, arrived here this morning from Dubuque. Mr. A. Strouse, son of William Strouse of North La Crosse, is home this week on a visit to his parents. He is attending a school in Elgin, Illinois, where he is studying the art of watch making.

Only Human Nature

By R. RAY BAKER

Casper Huntington went through the portals of the First National Bank feeling very insignificant, gazing with a feeling of awe at the massive columns among which he passed.

It was a new building and everything about it was significant of the huge sums of money that furnished its foundation. Yes, Casper felt lost. He had little acquaintance with banks and was not here now of his own choice. He had been summoned, by a letter which he found at his room when he returned home after calling on Bertha Walton.

Threading his way among the pillars and busy people, Casper found the president's office, and that official in company with the vice-president, greeted him so effusively that he was taken aback and could not comprehend the meaning of it.

Some time later when Casper went out through those same portals he was vaguely conscious of a feeling of disdain for the grandeur that surrounded him. His steps were no longer hesitant; he seemed walking on air. Instead of feeling insignificant, he felt superior to those about him. There was a million dollars to his credit in the First National.

He walked down the street and his lip curled as he waited for a handsome automobile to sail past. He would have a better one—tomorrow. He went to his rooming house, and for the first time he noticed cracks in the wallpaper and ceiling and the faded corner of a rug. He sat in the only chair available and pondered, bewildered over the sudden fortune that had dropped from the clouds.

"What could he do with a million? Well, the first thing, of course, would be to resign his position. The next would be to buy the most expensive car in town. Then what?"

These ruminations recalled to his mind a conversation in which he had taken part last night at Bertha's home. Mr. Walton had been reading something in the paper about a millionaire, and had asked to ask that question which is asked so often:

"What would you do if you should fall heir to $1,000,000?"

Casper had told them he would use it in philanthropic work, and Bertha had listened with glowing cheeks and proud, glittering eyes, while Mr. Walton had laughed and said:

"Yes you would. That's what you think, but if you should fall heir to a million you'd forget about philanthropy and spend it for your own comfort and pleasure. It's only human nature."

But he had meant it—then. He had thought little further on the subject, because the possibility of his possessing a million or even a thousand dollars had seemed so remote. Not even the letter he had found in his room had recalled the conversation.

"If you will call tomorrow afternoon at the First National Bank and ask for the president you will learn something of benefit to you." That was the way the letter read.

Now he smiled at the ideas he had expressed at Bertha's home. Yes, of course, he would engage in philanthropic efforts, but they could wait awhile. He must first in an automobile, and then he must travel. And Bertha? Well, he was engaged to her, but she could wait, too. He was really in a different stratum of life and, perhaps he had better give her up altogether. That reminded him that he had an engagement to take her to the theater this very evening, so he called her up at the office where she worked and pleaded a lame excuse.

"Of course it's all right," she assured him, but she did not prolong the conversation. It was just as well. Perhaps it would be better now for him to form the acquaintance of a girl in his own social sphere.

Casper decided to keep his good fortune secret for a while, but in this he was frustrated by the newspapers, who managed to find out everything somehow. Reporters started calling on him that very evening and he was forced to give interviews, telling them how the money had come from an estate in Scotland which he had heard of when a lad but had forgotten about as he grew up. The next morning he was spread all over the front pages.

Bertha solved the problem of his matrimonial obligation by writing him a brief note, in which she congratulated him on his good fortune and voluntarily broke their engagement.

"You are in a different plane of life now," she wrote, "and it is only human nature under such conditions to form friendships among the wealthy class. So I'll say good-bye."

She was right, and he was glad she looked at it that way, he told himself, and went out to take possession of the expensive automobile he had ordered. The car business was not so rushing now and orders were filled promptly.

At the wheel of the twelve-cylinder machine he motored out into the country. School children on their way home asked him for a ride, but he paid no attention. Later he would take people for rides, but just now he was too busy.

Casper opened the throttle and the motor hummed. When smaller cars got in his way he dashed ahead and passed them disdainfully. He turned to look at a big, ramshackle building beside the road, and while his attention was thus engaged his machine left the road and struck a telephone pole with terrific force. Blackness ensued.

In a semi-conscious condition he felt himself picked up, seemingly hours after the crash, and carried somewhere. When he regained his complete senses he found himself in bed in a very plain-looking room. A sweet-faced, middle-aged lady stood near him. Acute pain in his right arm caused him to wince.

"Broken," said the woman sympathetically. He saw that she was dressed in white.

"Hospital?" he asked.

"Not exactly," she smiled. "It's the Business Girls' Home for Crippled Children. You were brought here as an emergency."

"The Business Girls?" he asked.

"Yes. It's an organization of

HOW BILL'S WAY OF WALKING MADE HIM WEAK AND SLOUCHY

Bill was one of those slounchy fellows. He was round-shouldered, caved-in in the middle, dragged his feet when he walked, wore his cap on the side of his head—he was just slounchy all over.

Tom wasn't. Tom wasn't any bigger than Bill really, but he looked bigger. He walked with a snappy stride, swung his arms like a boy had plenty of good oil in the joints, and held his head high. He was the kind of a fellow you like to meet and pal with.

"You are these two so different?" asked a boy who knew both Bill and Tom, of his father.

"One is just naturally lazy," replied the boy's parent. "I'll let you guess which one. The other isn't."

Erect Body Means Health

"The lazy one could improve his appearance, in fact, everything about him, if he would just walk properly. Notice how his feet point outward? That's a sign of weak feet. See how round-shouldered he is? That's a sign of laziness. He has stood that way for so long he thinks he can't stand any other way. If he would start exercising with his body in an erect position and then hold that position he'd soon get as straight and lively-looking as Tom."

A deep chest means a deep chest. A deep chest means that the lungs are getting plenty of room to work, and good lungs lead to health.

Shoes Should be Comfortable

"Shoes often have a lot to do with the way a person walks. Shoes should fit comfortably—not too tight, nor too loose. Come, blisters and such are the result of ill-fitting shoes."

"How should a fellow walk? You mentioned something about Bill walking with his feet pointing out. Isn't that right?"

"The feet should point straight forward."

"The boy who knew both Tom and Bill paid more strict attention to the way he walked."

False Alarm

"I guess I'll take a day off," said the student as he tore a sheet off the calendar.

DOLLAR IDEAS

Handy Repair Man

In every neighborhood there is a key that must be made, or a door lock that is stuck, or a window pane that must be tightened so it won't rattles like a doctor's skeleton every time the back door is slammed, or a lawn mower, knife or pair of scissors that need sharpening, or screens that must be put in, or chairs to be mended—there are a hundred and one things for the repair man to take care of.

"Once a week, if repair work appeals to you and you decide to take it up as a side-line or vacation occupation, visit every home in the neighborhood (cover a larger territory if you wish) and find out if there's anything you can fix up. Right off the lady of the house may say she hasn't anything for you to do. Don't take this as final. Politely suggest such things as dull scissors, new keys, etc. You may name something that needs 'dixing'."

TODAY'S GREAT PERSON

June 6—Your Birthday?

Nathan Hale, the American patriot. He was born in Coventry, Conn., on Friday, June 6, 1755. It was during the battle of Long Island when he was sent by Washington to learn the strength and the exact position of the enemy, that he was captured and hung as a spy on Monday, Sept. 2, 1777. His last words were, "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country."

RULES OF MUSTACHE RACE DIDN'T ALLOW USE OF HAIR TONIC

All hair tonics were barred in the recent mustache race held at University High School, Chicago, Ill.

The Senior boys were lined up on the stage in the auditorium and inspected. Those who already possessed budding mustaches were shaved. Then the race started.

He who at the end of three weeks, could exhibit the most bushy upper lip received first prize. And he who had the fewest hairs on his lip received the booby prize.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

Edward Everett Hale's mother was a very reasonable woman.

The story is told that a month after Everett had started attending the Boston Latin School he received his report card and much to his dismay, saw that in his class of fifteen boys he stood ninth. What would his mother say?

Everett dreaded to think of it.

But—

"It doesn't matter," she said when he gave her the card for inspection. "Probably the other boys are brighter than you. God made them so and you cannot help that. But the report does say that you are among the boys who have behaved well. That's something that you can see to, and that is all I really care about."

When he grew up he became a widely-known writer of stories and articles and a prominent minister.

POSSIBILITIES OF LIFE ARE DISCUSSED BY REV. PANZLAU

Chooses Interesting Topic for High School Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday

"What is Your Life?" was the subject of the baccalaureate sermon for the high school graduating class given by Rev. J. L. Panzlaus, pastor of the Salzer Memorial church, Sunday. He said in part:

"These are stirring and restless times. Men and women are everywhere on the move. Some start west, others go east. Some go to the farm, many more to the city. We live a life of perpetual motion.

"You young people, the graduating class of this year, are leaving this educational institution, bidding farewell to a corps of loyal and faithful teachers who so ably assisted you in obtaining the elements of higher education. You have been the recipients of great educational opportunities which our public school system makes possible, your parents and teachers co-operating with you in your efforts.

"Now you are standing at the door of the great University of Life, eager and ready to enter in. No wonder the question comes to your mind: What is life anyhow? Is it a joke? A picnic? A great justification? Or a solemn reality? A bundle of possibilities? A riddle? Heaven or Hell? It is what you make it.

Origin of Life

"In the first place life is infinitely important in its origin. There are two conflicting theories about the origin of man. One believes him up from the brute, the other down from God. The first calls him the son of an ape, the other claims him to be a child of God. Out of these two flows the two philosophies of life—the Christian and the animal—or materialistic ideals of living. Man is not only a physical being whose component parts can easily be analyzed, he is vastly more, for the spirit of God hath made him and the Almighty hath given him life! The stamp and imprint of divinity is upon him.

"What gives standard goods their value? A trademark or label. What gives our money its value? The insignia and stamp of the United States government. What imparts to our legal documents their initial binding force? The stamp of our great judicial courts. What gives man his value as a human being? Because God's image and impress is upon him. Life is the prerogative of God. It belongs to him alone. The life you and I have is only given, borrowed; some day we must give it back again.

Man's Limitations

"Man can make statutes, hew an angel out of a rock, he can paint masterpieces and landscapes; to all he adds the hue and beauty of life, he can produce the finest shapes and forms—but he cannot put the breath of life into them.

"Therefore life is a sacred trust. It is more than eating, drinking, sleeping and making our daily rounds in the treadmill of life. Real life is knowledge, faith, hope, love, patience, laughter, tears, prayer, service, character, personality—this is true living—being—life! It comes from God—He is the Author to Him it should rest again.

"In the second place life is of the greatest importance for the services it may render to God and man. This life was given to you and me for a purpose worthy of yourself and your creator. What is the purpose of life? Advancement? Promotion? The pursuit of happiness? getting rich? having a good time? All is well in its proper relation. But man is created for higher and nobler things; he is to be holy, pure, clean, he is to be somebody—a man, and he is to attain the highest type of manhood which can only be reached through consecrated service to God and man.

"Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, friend of Ex-president Wilson, sat one night watching an Eskimo boy in cold barren Labrador. He was worn out by long journeys and night vigils. The fight against greedy merchants had just begun in Newfoundland. He had no fellow-workers—Christians were few and far between. His friends in England and the states had seemingly forgotten him. Evil men were at work to drive him out of the country. No wonder he sat and pondered: 'After all, is it worth while?' Why not leave these people to themselves and go back to England, to friends, to the ease and comforts of life? What was this boy to him in this lone land of ice and snow? Just then there was a little stir on the cot, a little cough and the sick boy's large eyes turned toward the doctor and a faint smile lighted up the pale face. A still smaller voice seemingly whispered: 'It is worth while.' Instincts as yet have done it unto one of these least ones of my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

"God is pleading and the world is begging for such selfless sacrificial service! We must again capitalize the 'life of service.' To live for one's self alone is to commit suicide. Not ego, not self, but God and humanity must ever remain the goal of our life service.

Life's Real Value

"Life is not only infinitely valuable from the dignity of its origin and the results it may yield to God and man, but in its vast importance from its eternal consequences. Here in this short span of life you settle the most important question, namely what you'll be in time and eternity. How momentous therefore is life. What a responsibility in its very heart! What a glory to consecrate it and what a shame to waste it! You are creating the house now, which shall be your abode forevermore. It does not matter how long you live—but it is of utmost importance how intense, how real, how manly, how selfless and Christlike you live!

"May the class of 1921 remember that life in its divine origin, in the beneficent service which it may render and in its eternal consequences is a sacred trust, a God-given loan, and may you all make a tremendous living use of it."

SUPERIOR MINISTER STRICKEN IN PULPIT DIES IN HOSPITAL

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Arrangements for the funeral of Rev. Frank C. Coolbaugh, rector of the Church of the Redeemer here, who died Sunday night, had not been completed early today. He was stricken Sunday morning while making an announcement in the church. A blood clot on the brain caused death at a hospital shortly afterward.

After graduating in 1859 from the first school-house built in Minneapolis, Rev. Coolbaugh completed his education in New York city and Portland, Me., and was ordained in 1870. Before coming to Superior he held pastorates at Minneapolis, Waukegan, Ill., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Lafayette, Ind. A son living in Superior survives.

SAFETY LESSONS FOR AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS

THIS is Safety Week for the citizens of La Crosse. To remind every man, woman and child, motorists and pedestrians, of their annual obligations, the Automobile Club is distributing downtown and in all the schools of the city, "Danger" slips upon which are printed concise instructions for motorists as well as autoists.

Every man, woman and child who walks out of his front door is exposed to the automobile hazard. Care in walking the streets and enlightenment in running automobiles will greatly tend to lessen accidents of this nature. Never in the history of accident prevention has there come such persistent demand from everywhere to help solve this problem. Believing that better knowledge on the part of the motorist of his car will greatly help to improve conditions, the Automobile club will during the course of this week run a series of twelve lessons of instructions. Every motorist is asked to study these lessons which are of immense practical value.

AUTOMOBILE BRAKES AND BRAKING

1. The brakes should be tested each day. Before going half a block from the garage make a service test by throwing out the clutch and applying the brakes. If possible, select a dry spot for making this service test. Under no circumstances should the car be taken farther if the brakes are not operating properly. Drive back to the garage and see that the faults are corrected before driving out again.
2. Automobile brakes have a definite relation to safety. Important points are:
 - a. See that a good type of brake lining is selected.
 - b. Make sure that brake lining is properly installed.
 - c. Keep the brakes in good operating condition.
 - d. Make frequent tests for proper brake adjustment.
 - e. Apply brakes properly when "on the road."
3. There are many types of brake linings on the market. Do not use linings that are too soft or too thick; such linings easily become matted and necessitate almost constant adjustment. Good linings are woven with plenty of asbestos; some also have fine copper wire woven in.
4. Only an experienced mechanic should install brake linings. He should be sure the lining is properly stretched to avoid wrinkling. The rivets should be properly countersunk; otherwise the metal of the rivets will score the brake drum and the brakes may not hold properly.
5. To keep the brakes in good condition:
 - a. Once in two months remove the rear wheels and wash the brake lining in kerosene. This removes all oil and grease which if present take the "bite" out of the brakes. Never oil brake lining.
 - b. Brakes squeal when they are glazed or when improperly adjusted. Squealing can often be stopped by removing wheels and roughening the brake lining with a file.
 - c. If the brake lining is worn down to the rivets, sink the rivets still farther, or have the brakes relined.
 - d. Wipe off and oil the brake mechanism every 500 miles, or at least once a month.
 - e. Make regular systematic brake inspection a habit. The loss of a collar pin might lead to a serious accident. When a lock washer is removed, don't put it back; use a new one.
 - f. More accidents result from faulty adjustment or application of brakes than from any other cause.
7. All drivers should keep the brakes adjusted properly. Brakes should not drag; if they do they will heat up and be worn down unnecessarily. Brakes should not be too loose; loose brakes do not act quickly enough. Different adjustments are made for different types of brakes:
 - a. On the shaft brake there is a nut on the brake band which can be adjusted to make the brake neither too tight nor too loose. Brake rod can be turned either to right or left to the hill and leave the clutch engaged. Shut off the gasoline throttle and, if desirable, turn off the ignition switch.

d. In ordinary driving, do not use the brakes often than necessary; regulate the speed of the car as much as possible by use of the throttle. If the car is equipped with a foot throttle use it in preference to the hand throttle. This leaves the hands free to operate the gears and the steering wheel.

e. In making an emergency stop, leave the clutch engaged, apply the foot brake, and pull the hand brake; but do not "lock the wheels." Keep the wheels rolling; otherwise there is danger that the car might slide or skid.

COLUMBIA STUDENTS GIVEN DORMITORY BY JUNIOR ROCKEFELLER

NEW YORK.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has promised the Cosmopolitan club, an organization of foreign students at Columbia university and other local educational institutions, a $1,000,000 dormitory, the New York Evening Post stated Saturday.

The newspaper said it had learned the dormitory would contain 500 rooms and would be built on Riverside Drive opposite Grant's tomb. The donation will be made as a personal gift rather than as one from any of the Rockefeller philanthropic bodies.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

BADGER DELEGATION IS SOLID AGAINST BIGGER NAVY PLANS

Lenroot and La Follette Work Together in Senate to Oppose Measure

BOB FOR PROHIBITION OF NAVAL DEBT-COLLECTING

Lenroot Farm Investigation Resolution is Approved

By BETTY PRUETT FARRINGTON
WASHINGTON, D. C.—(Special to the Tribune and Leader-Press.)—The Wisconsin delegation will stand almost as a unit against the $100,000,000 addition to the naval appropriation adopted in the Senate. A survey of the members reveal that they are against the $500,000,000 for the naval establishment with a bare possibility of one or two exceptions.

The real fight has yet to come. Adopted with the $100,000,000 increase by the Senate the bill now goes into conference. Before it becomes a law the House must either agree to or the Senate recede from that increase.

On the passage of the bill in the Senate both Senator Robert M. La Follette and Irvine J. Lenroot were among those voting in the negative. The final vote was 54 yeas, 17 nays, and 25 not voting.

Lenroot Amendment Lost

The two Senators for the most part went along together on the majority of the roll calls. Senator Lenroot's amendment to decrease the appropriation for construction from $50,000,000 to $38,000,000 was defeated 35 to 20 with 41 not voting. It was also supported by Senator La Follette.

During debate on this measure Senator Lenroot frankly stated his position relative to the American navy as regards other navies.

"I have stated many times," he insisted, "and I will repeat that I am concerned with what the naval power of England is. I am concerned with the strength of other powers. We ought to be the second naval power in the world."

Would Limit Navy Action

Senator La Follette pursued a distinct line of attack on the bill. He attempted to have inserted in the measure an amendment which would prohibit use of the navy in the settlement of any pecuniary claim. Of several amendments raised on a point of order the following illustrates the senior Senator's attack:

"That no battleship, battle cruiser, scout cruiser, torpedo boat destroyer, submarine, or airplane carrier herein appropriated for shall be employed in any manner of coercion or compel the collection of any pecuniary claim of any kind, class, or nature, of any individual firm, or corporation, or to enforce any claim of right to any grant or concession for or on behalf of any private citizen, co-partnership, or corporation of the United States."

Both Senators and the delegation are planning to resume their fight against the bill as passed by the Senate when it comes out of conference.

Lenroot Probe Approved

The investigation of the condition of the agricultural industry proposed in a resolution presented by Senator Lenroot was agreed to by the Senate. The measure has yet to be passed by the House, although favorable action is anticipated.

Senator Lenroot probably will be appointed to the joint commission to make the inquiry which will attempt to ascertain what steps ought to be taken to remedy the condition of the farmer. He estimated on the floor of the Senate that at least three months would be required to complete the proposed investigation.

The Hagen packer control bill was supported in a speech in the House by Representative Edward Voight, of Sheboygan, who is a member of the House agricultural committee where the measure was framed. It was passed in the House without a record vote.

Although advocating a separate commission to enforce regulation of the packers, Mr. Voight supported the Hagen bill on the grounds that it set forth the principle of packer control and accomplished considerable that sponsors of that type of legislation have been seeking for years. The Hagen bill as passed, places the administration of the law in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Representative Joseph D. Beck, of Viroqua, formally presented to the House the memorial of the Wisconsin State Legislature urging the establishment of more friendly relations between this country and Russia. The measure was referred to the House foreign affairs committee.

The entire Wisconsin delegation supported for the conference reports on the Budget bill. The measure is now in the hands of the President for signature. During the course of the hearing Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, pointed out the measure provided for placing the Bureau of the Budget in the Treasury Department, but did not subject it to the jurisdiction of the Secretary. In a humorous way, he observed it was a rather "violent supposition" that the Bureau be under the Secretary of the Treasury and still not subject to him.

It was subsequently explained that although the new Bureau was in the Treasury Department, it was subject wholly to the President particularly with reference to the Director of the Budget, and that this position was taken entirely to compromise differences with the Senate.

Representative James A. Frear, of Hudson, who is sitting in daily sessions with the majority members of the House ways and means committee in the framing of a new tariff law, expects the measure will be ready for the consideration of the House in another two or three weeks. Pending the completion of this measure and the proposed revision of the tax laws, the House business is moving along rather slowly.

Fruits From South Africa

Novelties in the way of fruits from South Africa are being introduced into the American markets. Not only do the African fruits appeal to the palate of those who have the mid-winter longing for the peaches, plums and melons of summertime, but they are a delight to the eye. Strange crosses of peaches and plums and apple have resulted in colors of deep red splashed with yellow in odd shapes that are unfamiliar to most of us. The fruits are all carefully selected and packed in excelsior. They come under refrigeration, mostly by way of England, the trip taking a minimum of four weeks.

Machine Composition for a Chinese Paper

There was recently exhibited in New York, a linotype composition machine which has been adapted to the Chinese language and which is about to be shipped to China. Some minor changes in the characters used have been necessary to accommodate the language to the capacity of the machine. By the old hand set type, the compositor had to provide over a case with about six thousand characters. The linotype has now been adapted to forty-two languages but the Chinese was the most difficult feat of all. The latest design can set ten different faces of type without making any change in the machine.

WRECKED AIRPLANE WAS "UNBALANCED" CLAIMS FRENCHMAN

Center of Gravity Carried too Far Back by Weight of Passengers, He Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Captain Delavergne, air attaché of the French embassy, who declared last Sunday that the Curtiss Eagle ambulance plane which crashed last Sunday night near Indian Head with a loss of seven lives, was unbalanced, has issued a statement to the army air service, in amplification of the previous statement. Captain Delavergne said:

"The big trouble in the construction of commercial airplanes is to secure the room necessary for the passengers. While the weight of the human body is not great, it is very cumbersome and takes up much space, so in this airplane it is certainly true that the center of gravity was carried toward the tail, particularly by the last two passengers, and the pilot was obliged to lift the tail to avoid stalling, and therefore, the loss of the necessary flying speed."

"This peculiarity is not a cause of serious instability in good weather, but is certainly, as I think, a cause of difficulty for the flyer to control the plane in rough weather. The Curtiss Eagle plane is a very good plane, very well constructed, and the flyer whom I watched all the time, was very good."

Captain Delavergne made the trip to Langley field, Virginia, from Washington, in the Curtiss Eagle ambulance last Saturday, but said he declined to return in it, because he regarded it as unbalanced.

Cutting Edge For Monel Metal

A process has been discovered by which monel metal can be so hardened as to produce a cutting edge of practically the same character as knife steel. It is the invention of Leon Cammen. This discovery will have an important bearing on the manufacture of cutlery and tools, especially for tropical countries, as the new metal is absolutely unaffected by moisture, vegetable and animal acids and the majority of mineral acids.

Some thirty white men and more than a score of negroes are being held at the city jail for investigation on looting charges. One white man who was alleged to have fired on national guards also was under arrest.

IMPORTANT BILLS ON WEEK'S CALENDAR OF BADGER LEGISLATURE

University and Normal School Budgets and Tax Measures to be Acted Upon

MADISON, Wis.—A stiff week faces the legislature, the calendar of both houses being crowded with important measures. In addition to bills already scheduled, the finance committee will report out the university and normal school budgets, and may also send the bill and Severson tax measures to the floor.

Definite action on the heavy tax and finance bills would probably be delayed until the middle of the following week on account of the small attendance of members on Fridays and Saturdays. The governor's prohibition enforcement bill is looked for Monday or Tuesday with action delayed until the following week.

On Tuesday the assembly will consider the Skogmo resolution providing for initiative and referendum of proposed laws, with the exception of constitutional amendments. This has come to the lower house after having passed the senate by a close vote. The resolution in its present form is not entirely satisfactory to the La Follette progressives who wish the initiative and referendum to apply to constitutional amendments.

The assembly will also pass upon Assemblyman Holly's resolution condemning the Dech-Cummins law and memorializing congress for unified control of the railroads. Reconsideration of the vote by which the junior college bill was killed will be pressed. Consideration of the governor's veto of the Perry measure regulating motor buses has been placed on Wednesday's calendar by the assembly.

In addition to the important bills scheduled, both houses will be occupied with marketing measures, being on the assembly calendar while the administration trade commission marketing bill will be voted on by the senate Thursday. Senator Worden's proposed amendments limiting the marketing division to supervision of agricultural products will be the center of conflict.

The assembly's surtax amendment to the $1,000,000 teachers' retirement fund measure will come up for conference in the senate this week. When the bill was up for passage in the upper house, the surtax provision was lost by three votes. Senators express doubt whether the assembly amendment can pass.

The long drawn out contest over the filled milk bill will also be definitely decided on Tuesday when the senate expects to resolve itself into a committee of the whole and hear arguments on the measure. Thousands of petitions by farmers in favor of the bill have been received.

OVER 100 BODIES ARE RECOVERED

The probable drowning of a hermit who lived in a cave near that place. He had lived for years in the cave, which was on the high bank of the St. Charles river. The swifling waters obliterated the cave and the occupant is still missing. It was near the same spot, Lake Charles reports said, that a woman and four children were drowned.

Flood Waters Receding

The business district on both sides of the river channel Monday afternoon was practically free of water. The overflow has drained back into the river, which is several feet below banks.

Water is standing in low places, however, and every basement in the flooded section is filled.

Reconstruction is beginning in earnest. Stocks of merchandise are water soaked and covered with mud. In streets fronting into the current of the flood many buildings were gutted as though a huge tank had plowed through them. Only the side walls still stand.

Cars Swept From Tracks

The railroad yards present a sorry picture. Hundreds of cars were washed away beneath them. On one side was a huge accumulation of piling, driftwood and ties.

Looking east from high ground across from the railroad station, in the direction of the Grove, one of the sections hardest hit by the flood, the skyline resembles a bombed town. Piles of debris have accumulated, household furniture is lying about everywhere and one place in the midst of the wreckage is a small herd of cattle chewing their cud, for there is no grass or feed for them.

Search For Bodies

In the Grove section a relief party is working strenuously for the wreckage in search for bodies. The men were poking into the piles of driftwood and pools of standing water, with billiard cues, sounding for corpses. Their work requires they wade knee deep in mud and slime, but hundreds are toiling there and in other sections.

Two attempts have been made to recover the bodies of a woman and girl near the Colorado and Southern bridge but have been unsuccessful. "We can feel the bodies under the water but cannot get them out," one of the party reported. "They are apparently lodged under some logs."

This is believed to be true of many of the bodies of the flood victims.

Flood Damage, It is Believed, Will Stand at the Latest Estimate of $10,000,000.

A herd of 10,000 head which was supposed to be in the Yellowstone Park has disappeared. "Their migration is thought to have been caused by the fact that cattle-men in the vicinity have been grazing their cattle on the land formerly used by the elk and so denuded the pastures. The Government and some individuals are interested in preserving the elk but the cattle-men are not so much concerned as they would rather their own herds should get the grass.

ONE WOMAN TO ANOTHER

500 Met No Politics A Wise Man Mrs. Krag Said Eye of the Critic

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

There was an impressive gathering of women in Chicago last week. Not a political meeting, nor a religious one, nor a relief commission.

It was just a meeting of "home bodies." 500 women who wanted to know more about advertising from the viewpoint of the buyer; to learn how it could save their money and help them to greater comforts in the home.

These women had all benefited by reading advertising. They felt that it could be of even greater service to them and they came to hear how they could take fuller advantage of this service.

Mrs. Leona A. Krag (Jean Prescott Adams), a well known magazine writer and food expert, spoke some truths upon that occasion which it would be profitable for the women of city, country and village throughout this land to hear.

She explained how not only the invention, but the advertising of all the modern household conveniences and earned goods have freed woman from her household drudgery and given her the leisure for intellectual development.

"Advertising," Mrs. Krag said, "has saved us time as well as money. When it comes to individual buying we must exercise judgment in selection. Advertising helps us to that."

"Look at today's newspapers and look at them with the eye of the critical home manager. You will find their advertising columns teeming with splendid information of value to you—far greater value, in fact, than the news of the latest murder trial."

"It was a wise man who said, 'Show me the advertising in your papers and magazines and I will tell you the condition of your country.'"

"When you buy advertised merchandise you know you are buying dependable merchandise; for no article can profitably be advertised until it has passed the most rigid examination of experts. Impress this upon your children when you send them to be buyers of dependable goods when they grow up."

When a successful woman of wide business experience tells other women that it pays to read advertising and to follow its buying suggestions, it may be put down as a certainty that she knows, because she is speaking from the knowledge which she has gained through her own wide experience.

Conducting a home is the highest form of business; buying food and clothing to the best advantage calls for the fullest display of business acumen.

All women can have the training which makes them business-like buyers. The school through which it is acquired is the advertising columns—and the tuition is free.

Read advertising every day. It is pleasant news—always bright and cheerful and helpful.

It is profitable news. It tells where quality merchandise may be bought; when and where price concessions may be taken advantage of; where quality and price are combined in the most reasonable proportions.

In short, advertising teaches how to make the most of every buying dollar, how to put more comforts and pleasure in life.

It is worth all of the time you can give to the reading of it; it well repays all the effort made to follow its instruction.

This is the testimony of a woman WHO KNOWS—of all women who know. Use it for your own pleasure and profit.

The Salmon of Maine

An English gentleman who has traveled all over the world and who has fished in all the waters of the globe, says that the salmon of the Maine waters is the king of all fish. It has been thought that the fish were dying out on account of the refuse from the paper mills which are dumped into the streams, but this is denied by a recent investigator who says that the abundance of fish is due to the great number of dams which have been thrown over the streams of the state. He claims that the runways which have been erected for fish to overcome these dams, are not adequate.

PULLMAN WORKERS AT CHICAGO TAKE BALLOT ON STRIKE

Twelve Thousand Men Ready to Go Out if Strike is Voted

CHICAGO, Ill.—A strike ballot by Pullman shop employees, to be returned next Friday morning, will decide whether or not some 12,000 men will quit work and possibly whether the sleeping car traffic of the nation will be interrupted.

Harry Smith, chairman of the Pullman system federation, announced such a ballot was being taken, and that a tie-up of the sleeping car service was imminent. The St. Louis shops are already out, he said.

"The strike ballot was ordered," he said. "Because the Pullman company would not obey the decision of the railroad labor board which ordered the company and the employees to confer with a view to an agreement on rules and working conditions."

Mr. Smith in his statement took a slap at the railroad wage board which he accused of holding up its decisions until the company could smash its labor organizations.

"The Pullman company has laid off 65 per cent of its mechanical employees since January 1," said Mr. Smith.

BRITISH-LIBERIAN FIXES PRICE OF A WIFE AT 5 POUNDS

LONDON.—Five pounds sterling and no more, is to be the price of a wife, according to a recently ratified convention between the governments of Great Britain and Liberia.

This convention regulates the relations between the tribes living on the border line between Liberia and Sierra Leone.

Women's rights are to be recognized, even in the West African jungle, for it is expressly provided in the convention that no claim can be made in respect of a woman except by her husband and that no woman can be compelled to return to a claimant against her will.

campaign for that purpose was started shortly before he became ill.

"While his passing away was not unexpected it came as a distinct shock to the laymen of the diocese. They sincerely mourn his loss. They always will cherish his memory as a kind friend, a devoted priest, and a sincere and earnest bishop."

Ordained at St. Paul in 1870

Bishop Schwabach was born August 15, 1847 in the grand duchy of Luxembourg. He was graduated with the highest honors from Diekirch college and came to America in 1864. He entered St. Francis seminary, Milwaukee, shortly after he reached the United States, where he completed his seminary education. He was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Grace of St. Paul, in that city, June 16, 1870, and immediately after was appointed pastor of St. Mary's parish in this city.

Bishop Schwabach was pastor of St. Mary's for more than twenty-two years, and was beloved by all his people. In 1882 he was appointed vicar general of the La Crosse diocese by Bishop Killian G. Flasch. On the death of Bishop Flasch he was appointed bishop of La Crosse, being consecrated February 25, 1892.

Was Great as Builder

Unusual progress was made by this diocese during the administration of Bishop Schwabach. The churches of St. Mary and St. James and the parochial schools in each parish of the city of La Crosse were built under his supervision. Probably the greatest monument to his memory is the Catholic orphanage, for the establishment of which he worked unceasingly. It also was one of his life's ambitions to establish a home for aged Catholics in this diocese. The realization of this ideal is now under way as part of the funds to be raised by the United Catholic campaign, now going on, will be used to build this home.

Celebrated Jubilee Last Year

On June 16, 1920, the bishop celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination in the priesthood. Hundreds of priests and laymen from all sections of the middle west and northwest attended the golden jubilee. Solemn pontifical high mass was celebrated in the morning of June 15 in his honor; an elaborate dinner was served at noon in the Chamber of Commerce, the visiting clergy and laymen taken for an auto tour of the city in the afternoon and in the evening a huge public reception was held in Pioneer hall, which was attended by hundreds of people. On May 31, last year, the members of the faculty of Campion college at Prairie du Chien gave a reception in honor of the bishop and on June 7 the children of the parochial schools of the city gave a musical program at Myrick park. Dinner was served the bishop and the priests of the diocese in the park by the women of St. Mary's parish.

Bishop Schwabach is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Philip Schwabach and Mrs. Helen Burg of Caledonia, Minn.; Eugene Schwabach of Dell Rapids, S. D.; Mrs. Mary Wagner of Oslaw, Ia.; and three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Susan Schwabach of Caledonia; Mrs. John Schwabach and Mrs. Lena Schwabach of Grandville, S. D.

STILLMAN FIGHTS EFFORT TO DELAY DIVORCE HEARING

NEW YORK.—Another fight over immediate continuation of hearings in the Stillman divorce case was forecast Monday.

John F. Brennan, counsel for Mrs. Ann L. Stillman, the defendant, announced at White Plains that he probably would ask Referee Gibson at the hearing in Poughkeepsie tomorrow to grant a further delay.

C. J. Sullivan of counsel for James A. Stillman, said the banker's attorneys would fight any attempt to halt the progress of the case.

Brennan declined to comment on published reports that Mrs. Stillman intended filing a supplementary answer naming several additional women in connection with her counter charges against Mr. Stillman.

WORTHAM SHOWS OPENING TONIGHT AT FAIR GROUNDS

Big Features Included in List of Attractions Offered by this Company

Tonight marks the opening of the summer carnival of the Roy L. Vingers Post 52, American Legion, and the C. A. Wortham shows, which furnish the amusement features, were all up and in place shortly after noon today. Those who watched the unloading of the Wortham train this morning and it was very early when they started unloading, were surprised at the number of wagons and paraphernalia carried by this gigantic amusement enterprise. It is more like a big circus, and the dens of wild animals together with the herd of elephants and the many horses and mules created much favorable comment.

The Wortham show is recognized as the leader of its class and is the biggest of its kind on the road today. The Canadian fair secretaries have contracted with the Wortham shows to exhibit at all of their fairs this season, and the shows are now heading northward.

The fair grounds are filled with tents and there are so many amusements offered by the Wortham show that it has already been called the traveling Coney Island. Everything that is being used at New York's play ground, and that could be built in portable form, is being presented by the C. A. Wortham shows, and there are several attractions that even New York cannot duplicate.

Chief among these are the Bohemian Twins, Rosa and Josefa Blazek, the two grown together mothers and their son. These remarkable women have created a great deal of interest wherever exhibited, and on Friday give a matinee for women only at which they dress in tights.

The Holland giant, Jan Van Albert is another unusual feature. This big boy, who is but 13 years old, stands 9 feet 3 inches in height and is still growing. Tenthling's Tex-Mex wild west show is the best of its kind.

Noah's Ark is a new fun show that was originated last winter. The Beal Models boast of many pretty diving girls, the Smiles of 1921 is a clever musical comedy company; boys and girls flirt with death in the Automaton, and the Hippodrome with lions, tigers, elephants and trained horses is one show that all kids from 6 to 60 years want to see. There are also many riding devices, in short there is such a diversified list of attractions that the most particular can easily be satisfied.

The shows will be here all week with matinees every afternoon and evening.

KLEINERTZ AWARDED DAMAGES OF $5,000 AGAINST A. ARNOLD

Judge Wickham Raises Amount After Jury Finds a Verdict for $1,000

Frank Kleinertz has won his suit against W. H. Miller and Alex W. Arnold for damages which Kleinertz claimed as a result of a real estate deal with Arnold and Miller.

The case was heard before Judge James Wickham of Dan Claire in circuit court here. Kleinertz asked $5,000 damages, charging that he disposed of city property to Arnold in exchange for a farm near North Bend and further alleged that he took Arnold's word for it that the farm was of black soil and productive when it turned out to be a sandy farm.

The jury returned a verdict awarding Kleinertz $1,000 and answered "yes" to a question as to whether Kleinertz "considering his business and worldly experience" should have known better than to have taken Arnold's word for the kind of a farm that he was selling. The judge ordered that this question should have been answered "no," that Kleinertz had every reason for accepting Arnold's representations.

Inner Tube Makes an Ice Bag

The average ice-bag is often inadequate and a very capacious one may be made of an inner tube. Cut the tube at the place where the valve is, remove the valve, the one end of the tube tightly and fill the tube with ice. Then tie the other end and you will have a long narrow ice-bag that may be placed at the side of the patient or even wrapped around him.

OFFER SUBSTITUTE FOR BORAH PLAN OF DISARMAMENT

Joint Resolution Concurs in Harding Purpose to Call World Conference

WASHINGTON, D. C.—As a substitute for the Borah disarmament amendment to the naval appropriation bill, the house foreign affairs committee reported Monday a joint resolution concurring in "the declared purpose" of President Harding to call an international conference to limit armaments.

All republican members voted for the resolution, democrats either opposing or voting present.

As a substitute for the republican measure, Representative Moor, Virginia, ranking democrat on the committee, offered a resolution authorizing and requesting the president to invite all nations to send delegates to a convention to provide for disarmament and making an appropriation therefor, but it was rejected.

The object of the committee resolution, which later was presented in the house by Chairman Porter, was to express to house conferees on the naval appropriation bill the attitude of the body on the whole question of disarmament.

Finance and Justice

A former judge who had become a cashier in a western bank, once declared to honor a check that a stranger had presented. "The check is all right," he said, "but the evidence on offer in identifying yourself as the person to whose order it is drawn is scarcely sufficient."

"I have known you to hang a man on less evidence, judge," was the stranger's response.

"Quite likely," replied the ex-judge "but when we're giving up cold cash, we have to be careful."—Youth's Companion.

ANOTHER COASTER READY FOR BIG LEAGUES

WILLIE KAMM

SAN FRANCISCO.—Willie Kamm, third baseman for the 'Frisco Seals, may be the next diamond star to filter through the Golden Gate Park hour-glass to the big leagues.

Coast fans think Kamm is a greater player now than Buck Weaver or Oscar Vitt, both former third base stars for the Seals, who developed in Golden Gate Park here.

Charlie Graham, manager of the Seals, intends to put his brilliant third sacker on the major league market this fall.

This is Kamm's third year in baseball. He broke into Class AA company in 1919.

When he makes his debut it will probably be with Ty Cobb's Tigers, since Detroit has first call on 'Frisco players now.

The recruit will find himself right at home in the big show, for he will be just another of the many pastime developed in Golden Gate Park to go up.

The Cincinnati Reds have Sammy Bohne, who cost them $20,000, and Louis Fosseca who cost them a $1,500 bonus to sign.

Detroit has Harry Heilmann, one of the greatest right-hand hitters in the game, and Bert Cole and Carl Holling, both promising young pitchers.

Brooklyn has Walter (Dutch) Rouser.

As an incubator for real players of ability and color Golden Gate Park is in a class by itself.

LA CROSSE LOSES TO CALEDONIA IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Sunday Battle Goes to Gopher Aggregation by Score of 4 to 3

The La Crosse baseball team was defeated at Caledonia Sunday afternoon in what was declared to be the hardest fought game participated in by the local club this season, 4 to 3.

The contest was a pitcher's battle with Kerr, new member of the local hurling staff, having the edge on the Caledonia mound man. Kerr was credited with allowing but three hits and striking fourteen men out, while Jaeger permitted seven hits, striking out twelve men. The local pitcher allowing two passes and the Caledonia batsmen coming in for hits when they meant runs, was the combination which spelled defeat for the La Crosse team.

Nic Haus, star third sacker for the Gophers, stepped out with a homer with one on in the seventh inning which gave the home team a marginal lead. Another feature was the one-handed catch by Manager Safford in right field, who, after a hard run, turned somersault and came up with the ball. Weisberg played a star game at short, taking five hard chances without an error.

The local club started a rally in the ninth inning when "Jump" Weiss took a new lease on life with a hot grounder in second. Satek singled and was followed by Safford who knocked a sacrifice fly. Shimshak hit to left center for two bases, scoring Weiss and Satek. Johnson, going in as a pinch hitter, whiffed. Shimshak was caught stealing ending the game. Caledonia has not lost a game to date this season.

Western Conference Title Hangs Upon Outcome of Michigan-Western Game

MADISON, Wis.—Michigan meets Wisconsin this afternoon in the final baseball game of the season for both teams that will decide the Western Conference championship. Should the Wolverines score the lead they will stand at the head of the Big Ten, one-half a game in front of Illinois.

Victory for the Badger nine will leave them in third place, where they stay regardless of the result. Their victory would give the championship to the Illinois who are now tied with Michigan.

Both teams have played top form baseball throughout the season and the result of the coming contest is practically a toss-up. In their previous eighteen inning game Michigan won, but its victory is protested on the ground that an erroneous umpire's decision took the game away from Wisconsin.

The day is ideal for baseball, warm and clear, without a trace of a breeze blowing.

DEMPSEY GASHED AND GLOVE WORK IS HALTED TODAY

Champion Sustains Cut Over Left Eye in Wind-up of Hard Days' Training

ABANDON GLOVES FOR FOUR OR FIVE DAYS

Will Continue Road Work and Bag Punching

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Boxing gloves were laid on the shelf in Jack Dempsey's training camp today. All work with the gloves was ordered dropped from the training program because of the ugly gash over the champion's left eye opened yesterday in a wind-up of the hardest day's work since training started three weeks ago. The halt was ordered by Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, on the advice of a physician who took a stitch to close the wound last night.

Dempsey probably will not be allowed to put on the gloves for four or five days but he will continue his road-work, bag punching, and other training routine since Kearns does not want to risk the danger of a serious injury to Dempsey's damaged eye, which, he believes, no doubt would result if boxing was continued.

Injured 10 Days Ago

The cut was first opened ten days ago when Dempsey's head collided with Jack Renault's his sparring partner, during a mix-up. It was healing nicely during the four days Dempsey laid off last week, but was ripped open yesterday when Larry Williams buried the champion.

Previous to the injury Dempsey had set a terrific pace for his sparring partners.

Dempsey's left arm is under care of a physician. A nerve in the arm caused the champion to experience a slight numbness during his workouts, but it is rapidly responding to treatment.

Martin Burke, the New Orleans heavyweight, after boxing two rounds yesterday, says the champion had improved one hundred percent in boxing since they boxed together during a theatrical tour Burke made with Dempsey before he won the title.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Washington made eighteen hits for twenty-six bases off two Chicago pitchers on Sunday and won 9 to 2, going into third place. Hodges who started for the White Sox, yielded three doubles and a triple in succession in the fourth inning and was relieved by McWeeny. Walter Johnson held the visitors to five safeties and helped his club to victory with four hits in five trials. Score: Washington.....122 000 00X—9 Chicago.....010 000 010—2 Batteries: McWeeny, Hodges and Tayan; Schalk; Johnson and Charrier.

The Humble Peanut's Growth to Favor

The peanut crop in 1870 was of no importance. Today the American crop is very large but insufficient to meet the demand and it is necessary to import twice as much as is grown within our borders. Fifty years ago the business was in the hands of a few small peddlers, but today the sale of peanuts is universal.

OFFICIAL STANDINGS OF CITY LEAGUE BOWLERS FOR THE 1920-21 SEASON

The report of Secretary J. G. Koblitz, of the City Bowling league, for the season of 1920-21 has been completed with all of the scores and records of five-man teams recorded.

The highest grand total made by teams during the season was recorded by the Regals, who piled up 2992 in three games. The highest score for a single game was also made by the Regals, driving the pins for a count of 1461.

In the ranks of the high individual score men, Henry Wittenberg and John C. Burns stand side by side, each having a total of 276 in a single game. Will Ott holds the individual honors in the total of three games, having 674.

The following are the averages made by the bowlers for the past season:

INTELLIGENCE OF GEORGES WILL WIN SAYS DESCAMPS

French Champion Expects to Outwit American Ace in Battle July 2

MANHATTAN, N. Y.—A battle campaign, such as Georges Carpentier's illustrious countryman, Marshal Foch, might plan, is being carefully mapped out at the camp of the French boxer.

First and last Dempsey's challenge, his manager, Descamps, and Gustav Wilson are strategists.

"After all," said Georges during the course of a recent workout, "the theory of military strategy may be boiled down to good use in a fight of this sort. Imagine for instance, that Dempsey is an opposing army, and he is lunched at the comparison, then remember that the Jersey City ring will indeed be the battleground.

"Our scheme is to show more cleverness to the enemy and to throw our forces into the battle in such a manner that he will be able neither to strike that direct and early blow that always spells defeat nor launch at any time a telling attack."

The challenger is being prepared so that the forces and intelligence at his command may be employed to the best advantage on July 2.

No matter what the style of the attack Dempsey uses, Georges expects to outwit him. If Jack attempts a first round finishing thrust Carpentier thinks he will have developed something to evade it and may be a counter attack to hear down the champion's line.

Comparing Dempsey's punches to big guns and conceding that they are of longer range and shoot bigger shells than Carpentier's, Georges laughs this away with the remark "Big shells are no danger when they go over your head; rifle bullets kill when they hit the mark."

The challenger laughs again when he is reminded of the assertion made by many sportsmen: Dempsey is too big for Georges. They said Willard was too big for Dempsey; David slew Goliath; George Washington whipped the British; a submarine can sink a battleship. And Manager Descamps ends the talk with: "You see, my Georges he has the superior intelligence."

Game From Argentina

There is a plentiful supply of quail and partridge in Argentina and it is proposed to ship the game to this country. This game could be placed upon the New York market to great advantage during the months of May to September, the difference in seasons between the United States and Argentina making it possible for the former to have a certain supply of this food at an unusual time of the year.

SOLDIERS GROVE DEFEATS CASHTON ON SUNDAY, 2 TO 1

CASHTON, Wis.—In a pitchers duel between Shotton and Bartels Cashton lost on their home ground Sunday to Soldiers Grove, 2 to 1. Cashton got their long tally in the third frame. Soldiers Grove scored their two runs in the seventh on two hits and two errors. Cashton threatened to score again in the eighth when Behrens, first man up, singled past short, was sacrificed to second and stole third and with only one man down. Bartels tightened up and struck out the next two, retiring the side.

Bartels for the visitors had the heavy hitters on the Cashton team at his mercy striking out 13 and walked 1. Shotton for Cashton struck out 12 and walked 2.

Soldiers Grove.....000 000 200—2 Cashton.....001 000 000—1 Batteries—Bartels and Withee; Shotton and Wais.

The "America" to Be Enshrined

The yacht "America" which captured the "America" cup from England years ago is to be restored and taken to Annapolis where she will be berthed permanently. The Government has taken over the custody of the old cup winner and will care for it in the future. The boat has had a varied existence. It sailed in European waters for many years and was used as a blockade runner in the rebellion. It was afterwards acquired by Benjamin F. Butler, who was governor of Massachusetts and also a member of Congress. He had the boat lengthened and made considerable use of it for many years. It remained in the Butler family until it was taken over by the Government.

"KAZAN," CURWOOD STORY AT RIVIERA STRAND AND CASINO

One of the most thrilling scenes in "Kazan," the famous James Oliver Curwood story which will be screened at the Riviera Monday and Tuesday, Casino on Wednesday and Thursday, Strand Friday and Saturday, is the race for life of a man and woman with a dog team over the snows of a Canadian woodland and their subsequent battle with wolves. Kazan, a wolf-dog, heads this pack, and when he recognizes the woman who has befriended him he turns on his companions and seizes them. In this fight all the pack dogs are killed, together with several of the attacking wolves. Jane Novak, star of the production, is the woman and Ben Deoley, in the male lead, is the man. During the skirmish Deoley was slightly hurt and resumption of production was delayed for a day while he recuperated. Bertram Bracken directed this production, which is declared to be one of the most gripping pictures of any of the Curwood stories. Others in the cast are William Ryno, Ben Hager, and Edwin Wallock. A big wolf-dog was used for the part of Kazan.

"LOVE, HONOR AND BEHAVE"
—RIVOLI

Blackmailers thrive during three reels of Mack Sennett's newest five-part super-comedy, "Love, Honor and Behave," which comes to the Rivoli Theater today. Eddie Gribbon and Kulla Pasha, make rumor and gossip to the dignity of high finance and sell photographs to interested parties for fabulous sums, their wives outwitting the vicious as well as the vicious.

The scene of their operations is the Gargle Inn, whither "Judge" Murray goes in the interest of prohibition, and Phyllis Haver to reclaim an errant husband, Ford Sterling. This part of the picture is one of the fastest moving episodes that Mr. Sennett has yet achieved. As a result of his experiences at the Gargle Inn, "Judge" Murray makes up his mind, and forever sets it there, that faith is not to be repaid in circumstantial evidence, and that incriminating appearances are more likely to be false than true.

In connection with the chases that ensue, when the Gargle Inn is raided there is a riot in an artist's studio that promises to provide more laughter to the square inch of film than anything recently seen on the silver sheet.

"Look, it's snowing!" was the ejaculation that rushed to the lips of petite Alice Lake, Metro's star, as she saw the first snow since her advent in California four years ago. Miss Lake and members of her company ran into a real snow storm while treading through Big Bear Valley, in the San Bernardino Mountains. Filming the Metro special, "The Greater Claim," now showing at Strand Theater, A foot of snow fell during the day of the company's arrival in the mountain resort. Wesley Ruggles directed the production, whose supporting cast includes Jack Donaghy, Edward Cecil, Lenore Lyndard, De Witt C. Jennings and Florence Gilbert.

MAN MUST HAVE GOAL IN LIFE TO ACHIEVE SUCCESS

Rev. W. S. Stewart Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon for Normal School Class

The Rev. W. S. Stewart of the First Baptist church delivered an inspiring address at the normal school baccalaureate services which were held in the normal school auditorium at 4:30 Sunday afternoon. His subject was "The Mastery of Life." He pointed out to the students of the school and their friends that self is man's greatest enemy, and that to conquer self was to master life.

The services were opened by the Normal School orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Leon P. Beery. The selections which they rendered were "The March of the Majors," by Halvorsen, and "The Song Without Words," by Tschalkowsky. Invocation was given by Rev. Robert Winter of Christ Episcopal church. A quartet composed of Mrs. Grace Bartl, Mrs. Amy Dow, Mr. Leon P. Beery and Mr. James Kerr sang "Send Out Thy Light," after which the address was given by Rev. Mr. Stewart. The entire audience joined in singing America. Benediction was delivered by Rev. Winter.

The address of Rev. Stewart, in part, follows:

Life is Ahead

"All who enter the struggle of life are determined to win. It is with head high, and with spirit unconquered that the advent is made. Others have been slain. Others lie victims to life's cruelties. They surrendered.

"You will not be slaves. You, young people, are going to prove the iron in your blood. To you the trail is plain. For you, mastery is ahead. You are going forth as conquerors.

"Before your normal training you thought that you were equal to the battle of life. Now, achievement is assured. The laurel wreath is ready to be put on your head. The world is waiting for your proof of valor.

"Ahead of you stretches the vista of life. Slavery or mastery is the portion of all. To cringe and cower, or to overcome and inherit is the future's challenge. To permit oneself to be victimized by one's social relations, or to vanquish all temptations will be the ever-present task.

"I challenge you all, therefore, to the mastery of life. I want to assure you that by no course of school training, or mental discipline, will this be accomplished. Life is mastered in its subjective relations before it is conquered in its objective realities.

"It is not in the power of the physical. It is not in the deepness of the mental. It is not in the genius of the spiritual that life is mastered. Rather it is in those finer and more excellent qualities of the soul that the forces of life must be met. In the hidden recesses of the life that body, mind and spirit must all be haled to answer to life's supreme challenge.

"The past is strewn with the wrecks of blasted hopes, unfulfilled desires, and ideals unachieved. The present is filled with the hot temptation of material and economic warfare. The future lies before you shadowed by the centuries of the past, but bright with the promise of a new day.

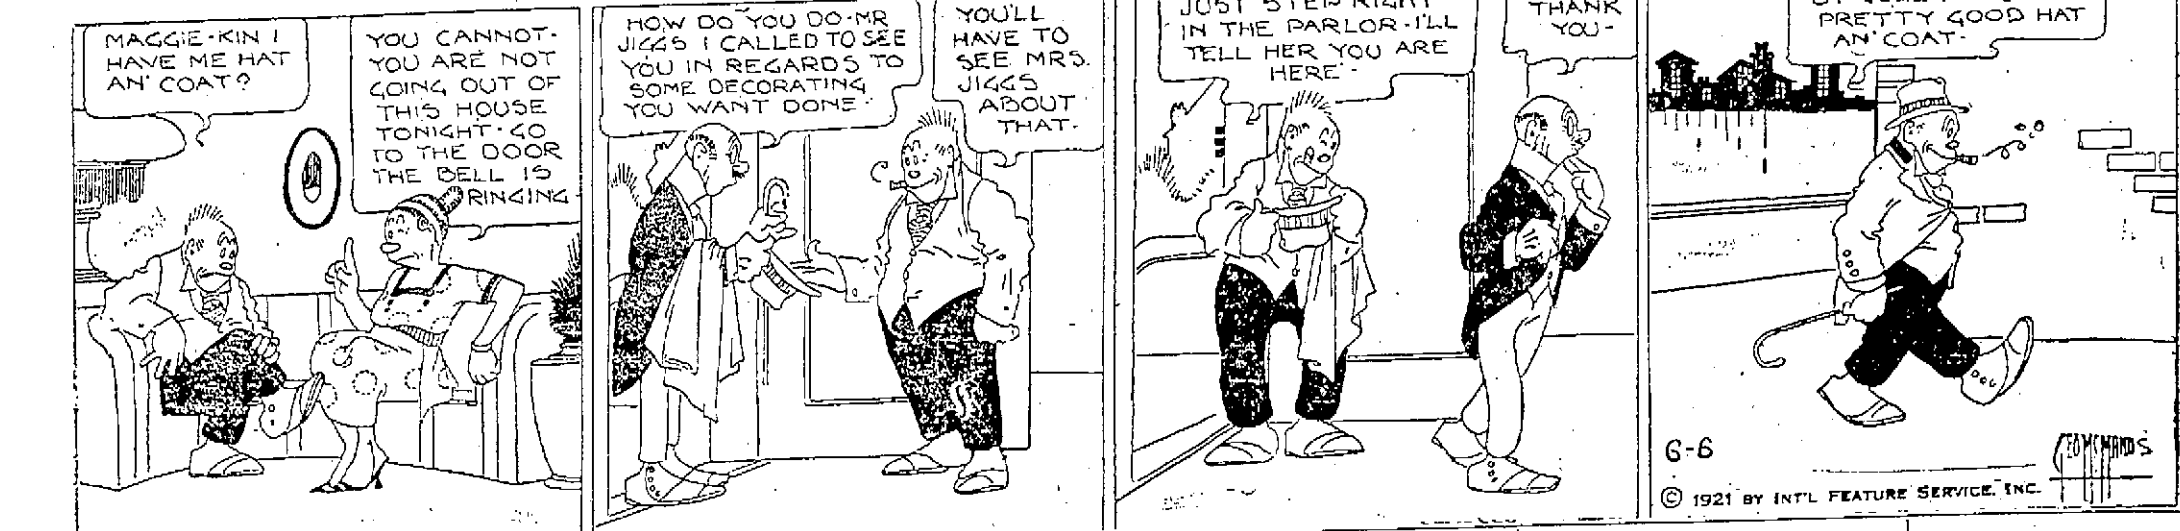

Have Goal in Life

"Permit not the wrong forces of life to turn you from the mastery. Let not the pressure of circumstance, and the closeness of application to your daily work sway you from your goal. Ever emulate the Great Apostle Paul in his life. 'This one thing I do.'

"Some have been conquered by their ambition. They have aspired to greatness. They have been hard workers. Their ambition has been their urge. In their desire to attain they have been unkind to their friends. They have been thoughtless regarding the needs of life. They have forgotten the call of the higher life, the desire to fulfill ambition. At the end, perhaps the goal has been attained; but the dress of the cup have proved bitter. Ambition has mastered them. They are not—as they had hoped—leaders; but are the abject slaves of selfish ambition.

"Others have lost life's battle through wealth. Money, which to most people is coined personality, is to them merely a purchasing agent. Never being compelled to work. Always being supplied with abundance. Never coming in contact with the great world need except to throw some paltry dollars. They know not their shame.

"They have been born in homes of wealth. They have never felt the stress of hunger, cold or poverty. They know the world's deepest sorrows only in an impersonal way. Wealth—which has proved to some of its possessors a wondrous power of service—to them has been a millstone. They are bound by its strength. Life's mastery has slipped out of their grasp because of the building power of personal gain.

"There are those who have succumbed to pride. To be the first in their set. To be elected the mayor of their city. To hear for them the plaudits of the crowd. This has been their desire.

"Pride in their own mental acumen. Pride in their superior physical charm or strength. Pride in their social acquaintanceship. This is their life purpose. This is their true goal.

"Pride is always a barrier to a slave. Pride is never an aid. Pride is always a rock of offense; never a stepping stone to the higher. Life's mastery is lost in human pride. Pride is a deadly sin of the life; and because of it many are abject slaves who ought to be more than conquerors.

Do Your Own Thinking

"Some are the servants of their group. Their decisions are never made without consultation with members of society. They abide by the opinions of their club, their city, state and nation. They do not vote. They permit others to do their thinking.

"They have ceased their mental exercise. Let the other fellow do it, is their motto. They have made themselves the rubber stamps of society. They have become the pawns of their associates. They are merely the ditto marks of life.

"Such are slaves. They have reversed the famous saying of that great prime minister of England, Disraeli, 'Men are not the creatures of circumstance; but circumstances are the creatures of men.' They are life's servants, not its masters. They are molded by society. They do not help to mold society. All the qualifications of mastership have atrophied in their lives.

"Others have permitted early training to warp their view of life. They have either felt the drag of bigoted ignorance, or the impotence of bloated knowledge. They have been the victims of false systems of education; or else the wrecks of uncultured teaching.

Jesus Stands Alone

"Search history's pages. Pour over the archives of the nations of hoary antiquity. Read carefully the records of Greece and Rome. Peruse the stories of the nations of the last two millenniums. Think of the past century. Can anyone be found who has always made all of life subservient to the highest? I answer only the matchless Man, Jesus Christ. He, and He alone, did always those things that were pleasing to God. He is the supreme one of all history. He taught in parable, as well as demonstrated in life the mastery of life.

"Test His life by whatever measure you wish. Weigh it by any scale you choose. Judge it by your highest ideal, and in all He is supreme. The hero of all life. The master of every physical desire. The Lord of every motive. The King of the ambitions and purposes of His life. He is history's matchless and sinless example of one who lived, suffered and died a master of life.

"Others have been great. Others have made the world better and kinder. All of these have surrendered in one way or another to life. They have measured to the normal ideas of mastery; but when the entire subjective life is laid bare, then personal hatreds, selfish traits, and greed make themselves evident.

"Jesus stands alone. His whole life has been before the world for scrutiny for 2,000 years. No other account of any life has been subjected to such an examination as the four gospels. Still He stands pure. No other life has been more maligned, less understood than His life. Still He is the only sinless one of history.

Is Peer of All

"I hold up Christ today as the peer of all to you, young people. I declare to you that He alone completely mastered life. That only as men follow Him, do His will, and carry out His principles will life be the road of the conqueror instead of the slave.

"To follow any other leadership is to follow someone who has been worsted in some life's battle. To take any other road is to enjoy companionship; but to end as life's slaves. By all the power of logic, I say, that if my premises are right—and I am sure they are—then the conclusion is inevitable.

"The mastery of life is not in acquisition; it is not in social leadership; and is not in the mere attaining of some ideal. The mastery of life is being master of oneself. It is the achievement of having all of life subject to the highest of life, the spiritual. In the words of St. Augustine of the fourth century, 'Man's soul will not rest until it rests in Thee.'

"Jesus is the only person who ruled Himself in time of popularity. They sought to crown Him—which He deserved—and He wept at their blindness, rather than feeling elated at their gift of temporal power. Therefore, for you, for me, there is only one conclusion, as life is under the direction of Jesus. As thoughts are subject to His cleansing. As emotions are purified in His holiness. As the will is in complete subordination to His will; to that extent, and only to that extent, will you, will I master life."

CHESTER ACQUITTED OF BARTON MURDER

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A jury of eleven men acquitted Chester Barton in a charge of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Miss Florence Barton, October 2, 1929. Miss Barton was fatally wounded as she sat in a motor car with her fiancée, Howard Winter, on a road south of Kansas City, one month ago last fall.
